This critical capability will enhance Virgin Orbit’s end-to-end responsive space service offering.

“Redwire is extremely proud to support Virgin Orbit with our state-of-the-art ACORN Digital Engineering software suite and other critical technologies,” said Peter Cannito, Chairman and CEO of Redwire. “These solutions significantly enhance their ability to rapidly design, develop and deploy space capabilities anywhere in the world.”

“We are excited about the partnership with Redwire and how combining our capabilities will build and enhance our current and future ability to serve our growing markets,” said Dan Hart, President and CEO of Virgin Orbit.
